

(1997 – 2007)

1st Institute of East Asian Studies

(2007 – 2012)

2nd Institute of East Asian Studies

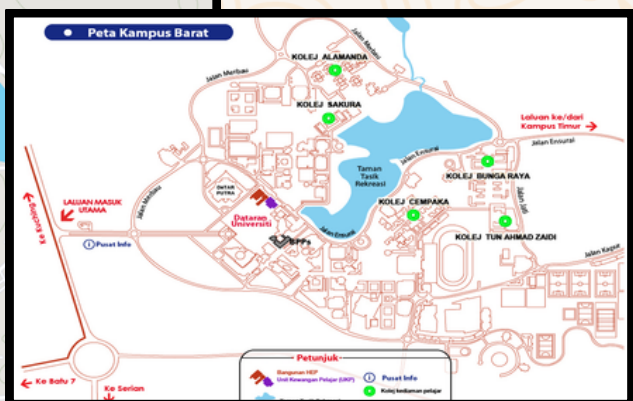

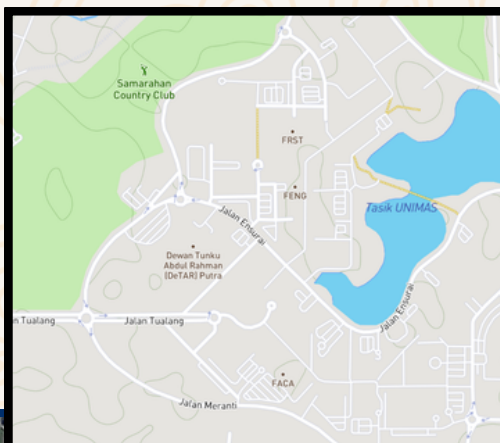

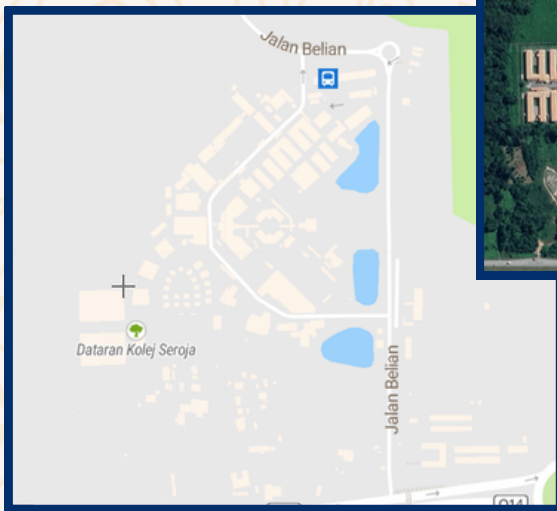

(2012 – Now)

3rd Institute of East Asian Studies
(Later rebranded as the Institute of Borneo Studies)

Since its establishment in 1997, the Institute of East Asian Studies (IEAS) has occupied three different premises. The institute was initially located at the East Campus, where it operated from its first building (1997–2007) before relocating to a second building (2007–2012). In 2012, IEAS moved to the West Campus, occupying its third building. The institute was subsequently rebranded as the Institute of Borneo Studies (IBS), which continues to operate from the same premises today.

EAST CAMPUS MAP (1997 – 2012)

WEST CAMPUS MAP (2012 – NOW)

Institute of Borneo Studies